It has been ascribed to Matthæus de Cracovia, by Santander, concerning whom little is recorded. The editions were numerous. 7 editions in Latin, and two in German, all engraven on wooden blocks, are described by Heinecken. The two first mentioned here in 4to. and folio, are reputed the most ancient. They are printed on one side only, and the figures are coarse and heavy.

EUROPE, the smallest, but by far the most interesting and important of the four divisions of the world. It may not be improper to notice, at the commencement of this article, the mode of arrangement which is followed, when subjects so multifarious and varied as may be written about any nation or division of territory must be classed together, as in the following instance of Europe. The principal divisions, then, of these articles are printed in large capitals, and are arranged in the order of the alphabet; thus, — ARTS, FANCIFUL WORKS, HISTORY, JURISPRUDENCE, &c. The subdivisions of these, which are of course but minute branches of the larger divisions, are distinguished from the former by their being printed in lesser capitals, and they likewise are arranged alphabetically; as under the division HISTORY, we have first Antiquities, then Biography, Chronology, Descriptions, &c. —— ARTS.—1733.
